Warm Hearted

Heinz soup is a family favourite, loved by kids, grandparents and anyone in between. Warm, comforting and largely unchanged in over a century, Heinz soups are a store-cupboard and national treasure.

The nations favourite recipe, Heinz Cream of Tomato was first placed on sale in 1910 in Fortnum & Mason and has since become the most popular soup in the UK, and voted as the most comforting. Since its production Heinz has sold over 8.2 billion cans. Like the product, the packaging has changed very little during its celebrated history.

- The recipe of Heinz Cream of Tomato soup is top secret and uses specially selected tomatoes
- The Heinz soup factory at Kitt Green, produces over 1,600 cans of soup every minute
- If you stacked all the tins of Cream of Tomato soup Heinz has sold since 1910 the pile would reach the moon and back!
